The 20th century saw so many changes – inventions in transportation and communication, entertainment, technology, electricity and plumbing. Schools were, of course, not immune from these. Here in Hampton, the seven one-room schoolhouses that educated students in grades one through eight became three schools serving students in first through third grades, fourth, fifth and sixth, and seventh ...

The name Noroton originates from the Native American "Norporiton" assigned to the river along Darien's border with Stamford. This section of Darien is defined by two peninsulas that claw their way into Long Island Sound, their curved appendages protecting enough coves and inlets to make the area a haven for beachgoers and sailors.
